25X1

1. The Josip Kras Bakery in Zagreb, which prior to World War II produced biscuits for the Army, is again being considered for that purpose. The factory employs 100 clerical personnel and workers, who are frequently dissatisfied with the fact that they are often forced into periods of unemployment because of a lack of raw materials. Consequently, they tend to seek employment at other factories.
2. The machinery in use at the factory is old and worn to such a degree that the factory will have to shut down completely unless it is replaced. Although the factory is capable of supplying the biscuit needs of all Croatia, at present it cannot fulfill even the requirements of Zagreb.
